Prof. Dr. M. Krishnan

Vice-Chancellor, Central University of Tamil Nadu

Prof. Dr. M. Krishnan, a distinguished Academician and Scientist, has made transformative contributions to Biotechnology, Molecular Biology and Sericulture over the course of his illustrious career. A renowned Scientist in Silkworm Biotechnology, his research has significantly impacted the sericulture industry in India, providing solutions that have increased silk yield and improved the livelihood of sericulture farmers. His patented method on supplementation of silkworm nutrition has been particularly influential in practical sericulture applications.

His work on Environmental Biotechnology has also had a significant impact on addressing industrial pollution, especially in the tannery and textile industries. His research on the biodegradation of pollutants using microbial solutions has provided innovative approaches to tackle environmental challenges, supporting cleaner industrial practices and contributing to public health and environmental sustainability.

Serving as the Vice-Chancellor of the Central University of Tamil Nadu and Madurai Kamaraj University, and in various academic, research and administrative roles in the Central University of Rajasthan and the Bharathidasan University, Prof. Krishnan has been instrumental in elevating the standards of academic and research excellence, benefitting a wide range of students and researchers. Prof. Krishnan's research contributions have earned him several prestigious national and international awards like INSA Young Scientist Award, the Commonwealth Fellowship and the Czech Academy Fellowship. His recognition as a Fellow of the Royal Entomological Society of London and his collaborations with leading research institutions in Germany, Japan, Hungary and UK highlights his global standing in the scientific community.
