Environmental

Preservation of our natural world

- Climate change
- Carbon emission reduction
- Water pollution and water scarcity
- Air pollution
- Deforestation

ESG

For Government

Increased focus on ESG across the business and political spectrum has made this a vital issue for governments worldwide.

Although the coronavirus pandemic may have pushed ESG down the agenda in the short term, imperatives like on climate change are again making it a priority topic.

Although governments may have had to take their eyes off the ball momentarily, ESG issues like social injustice and climate change threaten to damage the fabric of society unless they are tackled.
